

WIDOW AND THREE CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

Notorious Outlaw Electrocuted In Arkansas

Last Of Gang Pays Penalty For Crimes Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 18.—"Diamond Joe" Sullivan, last of the Southwest's notorious outlaws, went to his death in the electric chair here today—good Friday—without an outward sign of the "yellow streak" attributed to him by underworld associates.

The prisoner walked to the chair with an air of gay carelessness and ease that astounded spectators. He maintained his calm and unconcerned attitude as the adjustments were made and until the switch was turned on. At 5:37, a bolt of electricity, 2,300 volts strong, was sent through his body and he paid the penalty for a career of crime and banditry extending over the last decade. He was electrocuted for the specific crime of slaying a Little Rock detective last year.

Because he was the only one of a long list of outlaws who hanged Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas in the last twenty years, to meet death in an electric chair or on the scaffold, fellow crooks passed around the word that Sullivan was yellow—afraid to take a chance of being killed "with his boots on."

Whether "Diamond Joe" was fearless, or yellow became a subject of bitter controversy in police and outlaw circles.

As Warden Evans entered the death cell and read the warrant of execution as the first streaks of dawn began to show through the narrow, barred window, there was no sign of fear on the prisoner's face. He listened attentively and witnesses thought there was even a trace of relief showing in the prisoner's eyes. There was a faint, radiant smile on his lips.

Sullivan led the grim procession of witnesses and deputies to the chair room. He glanced in some surprise and amusement, at the curious crowd which had gathered to see him die—about twenty-five.

Sullivan took his place in the death chair with no show of emotion. He placed his wounded arm—shattered by the accidental discharge of Emory Connell's revolver following their escape from the penitentiary—across his lap, and looked up into the face of the Catholic priest who had been constantly at his side.

As the death room attendants adjusted the straps to his legs and arms and braced his head against the shock which was to come, the priest intoned a prayer for mercy.

The desperado repeated it, in a low, calm voice, until the tightening of the "face mask" silenced him.

"My Jesus, mercy!"

Those were Sullivan's last words as the "juice" struck him. He was pronounced dead one minute later.

"He sure wasn't yellow," whispered a detective who witnessed the execution.

All of Sullivan's associates had met death while "shooting it out" with authorities. They included Tom Slaughter, Eddie Adams, Ed Lockhart and Al Spencer.

Adams was credited with starting Sullivan on his career as an outlaw and bandit and teaching him the tricks of the trade.

Sullivan was a native of St. Louis. His father was a wealthy brewer there. When a young man, he was taken to Wichita where he met Adams. While associated with the Adams gang, Sullivan met a woman who undertook to school him in outlawry. On their first job together, the flowing of a postoffice safe, the woman declared that after the safe had been wrecked by an explosion Sullivan lost his nerve and wanted to flee. The woman declared she grabbed his revolver from his trembling hand and forced him to enter the vault and bring out the valuables at the point of his own gun.

That tale gave rise to the whisperings that Sullivan was "yellow." He served two prison terms. Last year while in Little Rock with

MRS. HILTON PHILLIPSON

Mrs. Hilton Phillipson, one of Great Britain's eight women members of Parliament, called the "chorus girl M. P." has resolved to resign in order to devote her time to the care of her three children, the eldest of whom is six. Captain Phillipson, her husband, who probably will succeed her as a Conservative from Berwick, declared his wife regards motherhood as the most important thing in her life. Before her marriage Mrs. Phillipson was Mabel Russell, musical comedy star and member of the chorus.

POWELL PRODUCES MORE THAN 40,000,000 BARRELS OF OIL SINCE DISCOVERY

J. K. Hughes, President of the J. K. Hughes Developing Company, is in Richland and Powell sectors of the Mexia oil fields today. Activity at Richland has been at a standstill for several days but a very active drilling campaign is in prospect. The Richland Eslick has reached a depth around 2500 feet.

The No. 2-B Hill of the John Hooser was completed Thursday with an initial flow of 13555 barrels an hour. The well is the second one on the 15-acre "B" lease of John Hooser.

It is reported that the Boyd Oil Company has cemented casing on the Nowlin test at Bazette. The Johnson continues drilling on the Skiles test. The Masters company test on the Easterling near Chatfield is down to 12000 feet with drilling going on with a day and night crew, according to announcement. The log is reported running regular with the structure in the Powell area of the gusher district.

The production at Powell is still above 125,000 barrels daily and at Mexia is above 30,000. The Powell field has produced more than 40,000,000 barrels of oil since its discovery about a year ago.

No new developments occur this week in the Mexia field.

Mr. and Mrs. David Murphy were visitors to Groesbeck last week.

Emory Connell, a fellow bandit, two detectives surprised them disposing of stolen jewelry. Sullivan and Connell opened fire and killed both officers. The outlaws were captured shortly after and sentenced to death. Last February, while awaiting execution of the sentence, Sullivan, Connell and Eulos Sullivan, the latter another convicted murderer, escaped. After a week's chase, Connell and Eulos Sullivan were killed by possees and "Diamond Joe," wounded by the accidental discharge of Connell's gun, was captured.

He was kept under close guard until the death sentence was carried out today.

BUSINESS WOMEN TO AFFILIATE WITH STATE CLUBS

The Business Women's Club of Mexia, through its Chairman of Entertainment, Mrs. Rose Parker, staged a most successful luncheon in the Majestic Hotel dining room, this being the second meeting of the organization. Club members responded promptly and at 7:30 p. m. over twenty members, representing different lines of business and professions, together with several guests, sat down to an unusually fine luncheon.

Ten minute speeches were the order, and Rev. G. T. Reeves made the opening address, carrying out the theme of cheerfulness. His humorous remarks sprinkled with a seriousness of thought were heartily applauded.

Mr. J. I. Riddle gave several suggestions that will aid the Club in their purpose of assisting other clubs in beautifying Mexia, emphasizing the City Park. His suggestions were appreciated, and the Club will be benefited thereby.

The Club was delightfully entertained with a duet by Miss Priddy and Mr. Bell, accompanied by Mrs. Ira Needham at the piano.

Mr. I. W. Keyes in his closing address remarked that it seemed we had called upon Rev. Reeves for spiritual advice and Mr. Riddle for an undertaker's advice, consequently he took it that we expected him to not fall down on the legal side of the question. We were convinced that Mr. Keyes proved his ability by the splendid talk that he made, making it clear that he had the interest of the club at heart. In behalf of the other guests he voiced his appreciation of the luncheon and the thoughts which prompted it.

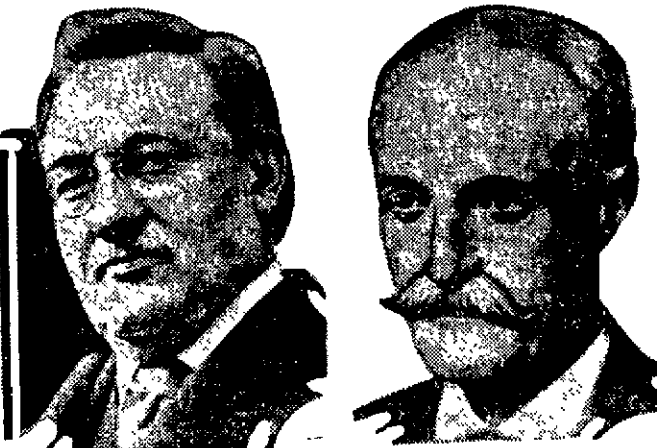

After our President, Miss G. L. James, dismissed the guests, a business meeting followed. It was unanimously voted that the Club make preparations at once to become affiliated with the State and National Federation. Mrs. Hester M. Cope, who assisted in the organization of the Business Women's Club of Mexia, was elected honorary member. Two charter members were added to our list, Miss Anna Lou Karner and Miss Golda Curtis. The meeting adjourned to meet April 21st at 8 p. m. in the Elks club.

Methodists To Baptise Babies Sunday Morning

The largest crowd yet to attend the Methodist Revival was present Thursday night to hear another great sermon by the pastor, Rev. W. B. Andrews. He preached on the buried talent. He pointed out that men bury their talents by neglect; that talents are God's supreme gift to men, His royal gifts and that they must be used else they become as the buried talent, a loss to God and men.

He announced that tonight would be the last week night service of the revival which would close Sunday.

At the 11 o'clock hour Sunday, Rev. Andrews will officiate at the infant baptismal service. He expressed a hope that it would be a fair day so that mothers and fathers might bring their children for this occasion. He also stated that he would preach on "Why Men Join a Church."

It is urged that every member be in his and her place at the service tonight.

The meeting has been of great service to the church and congregation and great emphasis is being placed on these closing services.

INSTRUCT ALL THE WAY

Biographies of those who did something to attain unusual prominence often include the statement that the subject of the biography "had no fear of public opinion." This is meant to be praise of the highest kind and usually is so regarded. It implies that the person had convictions of his own and was courageous enough to act on them.

It is, therefore, to the credit of Governor Pat M. Neff that he has taken to the stump in an effort to induce public opinion to accept his theory of a partly uninstructed delegation of Democrats to the National Convention in New York City this summer. He has displayed a courage in this matter the like of which he has brought to his office ever since he was elevated to power in the Executive Department of the State of Texas.

On the other hand, Governor Neff and every other politician must be very careful else prejudice and stubbornness will enter to crowd out the wiser decisions that are reached calmly and deliberately, with all the evidence from all of the conflicting but important factors in hand and mind. The truly great of our commonwealth is not tempted to put his ear to the ground or to be tossed about by every trivial breeze of impulsive clamoring. But he does have a deeply rooted respect for the opinions of his fellow men.

This afternoon the Governor is speaking in Groesbeck and in other towns in this part of the state, pleading for an instructed delegation as to principles but uninstructed as to the party's choice for the Presidency. The Governor is usually right but in this instance, the human in him has asserted itself and he is giving expression to an erroneous idea of government. The Governor is a good man himself and has drawn a conclusion that all men are equally good, which is indeed commendable and chivalrous in him. Many of his very closest friends believe differently from him in this particular instance and the same friendly relation exist despite their difference.

Times have impressed voters every where with the wisdom of giving more attention today than ever to the men and women whom they entrust with public service and res-

THE EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

THE PROPOSED COTTON CENSUS

Houston Post

Senator Robinson of Arkansas has introduced a bill in the senate authorizing the census bureau to make an immediate count of the number of bales of cotton held on farms, in warehouses and in mills, and to estimate the number of bales each grade so held.

Whether the bureau could make the count in time to be of much service to the farmers who are now considering how large an acreage to plant is problematical. The farmers just now are interested both in the amount of the holdover from the old crop and the probable demand in the new season. The latter is necessarily a matter of opinion, but to know the amount of cotton now on hand would help some in gauging the acreage this year.

The count also would be of use in supplying the market with information as to the holdover and thus help to keep prices of cotton somewhat in line with the supply.

An error in the government reports of stocks on hand and an exaggerated forecast last year cost the holders of cotton millions of dollars. The market recovered later when the errors were discovered but those who sold their cotton on the unwarranted decline could not recapture their losses.

If it be feasible to take immediately the count the Arkansas senator suggests, it doubtless would be a good thing. The farmer is entitled to accurate statistics, and he should be protected from wild guesses as to acreage, altogether.

Perhaps, if we would blame the customer a little more and the boot-licker less, we might get some place with the illicit liquor business—Lincoln, Kans., Republican.

Some people are inclined to heap a load of criticism upon the young people of the community, without stopping to think that the present environment of these youngsters was made by the older people. If it is not a proper one, the child should not be too severely blamed.—Arkansas City Traveler.

A number of the elderly ladies of Altoona have had their hair bobbed. The bobbed hair epidemic has struck the city in full force. Most of the little girls here have had their heads shaved for some time, but the older sisters did not get the disease until last week, and now the barber shops are rushed more than a 10-cent store is on a Saturday afternoon, or the postoffice on the day before Christmas. One woman, however, has gone to the extreme. She probably has seen fifty celebrations of the Fourth of July, but the prevalent ailment has enveloped her completely.

Ladies! Your sandwiches will be ready here tomorrow. TIDWELL'S.

She not only had her beautiful tresses cut, but she has had the tails of the family cat and dog cut off. She also had their old mare's tail docked, and has made her husband cut off his mustache. Evidently the bobbed hair epidemic elsewhere is dying out, as it has just hit Altoona. Other places had the flu quite a while before it got to the Gem of the Verdigris. It is said the men folks of Altoona will soon start to wearing bustles.—Altoona, Kans., Tribune.

Every community has a few individuals who never contribute a dollar to community enterprise, and they are also the fellows who criticize the way the other fellow spends his community dollars.—McCune, Kansas, Herald.

We are told, every day, that women look at things differently from men. To be sure, a woman looks at things as they affect her—a man as they affect him. Yet a thousand women are very likely to reach the same conclusion on a given matter as an equal number of men.—Lamar Democrat.

Nothing annoys a woman more than to be kept in by illness when all the papers are full of dry goods ads.—Atchison Globe.

CITIZENSHIP

Thought for the Day

By A. Garland Adair

Man is born for action. Work awakens a sleeping force and roots out error. Who does nothing, knows nothing.

Popular ideas, especially popular fallacies are hard to combat.

If you are told something in your youth, particularly if it is something your mother believed, it is very difficult to get that idea out of your mind, even if science should prove it untrue.

Seek not so much to know your enemies as your friends, for where one man has fallen by foes a hundred have been ruined by acquaintances.

No good effort is ever lost. He who can suppress a moment's anger may prevent a day or even years of sorrow.

If all would cease to satisfy their greeds, but few would fail to satisfy their needs.

If you don't do your best, you will get the worst of it in the end.

After all the shortest road is the straightest road.

Purpose and perspiration are a winning team.

Use Sulphur To Heal Your Skin

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment, declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Menthosulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Menthosulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar of Rowles Menthosulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—(Adv.)

The Fert Worth Cats kinda took the kink out of the Dallas Steers on the opening day at Dallas by defeating the Morrismen largely by home runs. The Dallas team then turned right around and defeated the Panthers on their home grounds in the second game of the season.

Kinda-funny incident in the Texas League all right when every club besides Fert Worth, that won the first day won the second. Dallas and Fert Worth are the only .500 clubs in the loop.

Tris Speaker and his Cleveland Indians got off at a bad place when they stopped at Detroit to open the season. The Tigers took two falls out of the Tribe and on the third day rain prevented their playing.

Everyone be sure and visit Gusher park Wednesday afternoon to see the ball tossers of Manager Fowlkes hand a nice little bunch of flowers to Johnny Vann's Corsicans Oilers. Vann has a nice collection of ball players in the Oilers camp and will give someone fits for the rag this season.

Was Raving Beauty In Her Youth

A heartrending and yet interesting thing happened in a down town store when a middle aged lady got into a loud argument with a clerk. "I know what I want," she kept saying. "I have tried all those other things, but I know from what I saw it do for some friends of mine, that it is Black and White Ointment which gets rid of these pimples and blotches. I was just as pretty as any girl when I was young, but I got careless and now I am in the fix you see."

So many people are now insisting on Black and White Ointment to get rid of pimples, blotches, eczema, rash, tetter, ringworm, "breaking out," etc., because they see and hear of the thousands of others who know they can depend on it. And it is more economical, too. The 50c size contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size. All dealers have it.—(Adv.)

DALLAS, Texas.—A grand jury here is investigating complaints of welfare workers that the leader of a colony of "holy-rollers" here fled with his parishioners' money, after telling them it would be used to "finance" the second coming of Christ. According to the story of welfare workers, several members of the Pentecostal faith sold their worldly possessions when their pastor told them the world was coming to an end and the Lord was returning to earth. The minister took the money and went out to "meet Jesus," they said, leaving the flock destitute.

NEW YORK.—Proposal to lease Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford is a "startling gift," ranking with other present day "exposures." Representative Harry E. Hull, Iowa, told the Women's republican club here. Hull said it would be an issue in the coming presidential campaign. He said

The proposal was a democratic one, fostered by southern and other democratic members of the house.

DALLAS, Texas.—"Jesus Christ was the world's master salesman and the Bible is the greatest sales manual ever written," Frank E. Moran told the Dallas Salesmanship club. Members of the Dallas Pastors' Association attended the salesman's meeting to hear the discussed subject, "If I Were a Preacher, I would be less a theologian and more a friend," Moran said.

UNITED PRESS DAILY LETTER

WASHINGTON.—American composers have appeared before the senate patents committee in opposition to the Dill Radio bill. Gene Buck, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers testified the songwriters would be "wiped out almost overnight" if their copyrighted works were allowed to be broadcasted without profit to them, as provided in the bill. Joining in the chorus was Augustus Thomas, famous playwright, Victor Herbert, noted composer, John Phillip Sousa, band-master and many writers of jazz hits.

CLASSIFICATION
AUSTIN, Texas, April 17.—More than a hundred high schools have already approved the plan to divide competitive schools in football into two classes, according to Roy B. Henderson, son, director of athletics in the Inter-scholastic League. The plan was submitted to the schools over the state recently, and the hasty approval of both large and small schools indicates its unqualified success.
The two classes are to be known as Conference A and Conference B. The basis of the division is an enrollment of 350 in the high school.
"Schools that fall into both classes favor the plan, because a defeat of any team in either conference will not prevent the defeated team from playing teams in the other conference," said Henderson.

D. A. R. OPENS 33D CONGRESS IN WASHINGTON.

CHIEF FIGURES IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Below: MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, CHARLES CURTIS, HENRY CABOT LODGE.

The letter of Masano Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, to Secretary of State Hughes, warning him that "grave consequences" would follow Congressional action excluding Japanese from the United States, so aroused Senator Henry Cabot Lodge that he called the envoy's action "improper." Hanihara's recall is expected in Washington. U. S. Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, formally reported the Soldier Bonus bill to the Upper House, ahead of the tax reduction measure. Led by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Democratic women in New York State revolted from the domination of Tammany Hall and demanded, in the State convention in Albany, the right to name their own delegates-at-large to the National Convention.

TOKIO, April 18.—There is no present intention on the part of the Japanese government to recall M. Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador to Washington, Premier Kiyoura, formally announced today. The possibility of his recall was discussed by the Japanese press as a result of the Ambassador's letter to Secretary of State Hughes on the American Japanese exclusion measure.

Edwin Falvey was here Friday from Waco.

THE WORLD IN TABLOID

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today appointed a special sub-committee to hold hearings on the proposal of the late President Harding that the United States should participate in a World Court. This is the first action of the committee on the proposal since it was submitted to Congress before Harding died.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Speaker Gillet, of the House of Representatives, had a trunk full of liquor seized by the Department of Justice in 1920, H. L. Scaffa, former Department of Justice agent, charged before Senate Investigating Committee. Scaffa said he got his information from Gaston B. Means.

SAN ANTONIO, April 18.—Lieut. W. A. Fredericks and Flying Cadet R. R. McCully, were burned to death when their airplane in which they were practicing night flying at Kelly Field last night, crashed. Fredericks' home was at George West, Texas, while McCully's was at Columbia, N. C. Both were married.

AUGUSTA, Kansas, April 18.—An unidentified bandit was killed and A Jenkins, a policeman, seriously wounded, as a result of a gun battle when the officer caught the bandit in the act of robbing a filling station.

NEW ORLEANS, April 18.—Fifty persons were injured and twenty-five homes were destroyed by a cyclone accompanied by hail and rain-storm which swept New Orleans. None of the injured were hurt seriously. The damage to property is estimated at half a million.

Mexia Company Increases Its Capital Stock

Each week sees business changes, additions and expansions in Mexia that reflect a healthy condition and flourishing growth in this community.

One of the notable events in business circles here this week was that of the J. I. Riddle and Company, furniture dealers and undertakers, met at the office of the company and decided to increase the capital stock from $50,000 to $80,000.

Also at this meeting officers and directors were elected, as follows:

J. I. Riddle, President and General Manager.

J. H. Cason, Vice President.

O. P. Potts, Secretary and Treasurer.

J. I. Riddle, A. G. Koenig, Q. P. Potts, J. H. Cason and Mrs. J. I. Riddle.

The business occupies a handsome three story brick building in the 300 block on East Commerce. The stock of goods occupies all three floors and affords a display which attracts favorable comment. The establishment is one of the largest of its kind between Houston and Dallas and worthy of a city much larger in population. The place has been well advertised all over this part of Texas and customers call daily from many miles around.

H. Hebert, of Corsicana, was in the city Friday.

1500 Athletes Are Ready for Relays At Drake Carnival

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 18.—The fifteenth annual Drake University relay meet is expected to draw approximately 1,500 athletes and 30,000 track and field fans who will compete in and attend the two-day athletic carnival Friday and Saturday. More than a hundred leading universities, colleges and high schools will be represented.

Attractive events have been scheduled by Athletic Director K. L. Wilson of Drake in arranging the program. A special 100-dash will headline the this year.

Harold Osborne, former University of Illinois star, will attempt to smash the world's high jump record of 6 feet 7 5/16 inches. At present Osborne holds the Drake meet record for the high jump, 6 feet 6 inches, which he established in 1922 before completing his college career. Regularly, in recent practices, he has been pumping 6 feet 7 inches, and he stands an excellent chance of setting a new mark for the event, his friends say.

The 440-yard low hurdles will be another of the special events for Friday. This is one of the important Olympic Game events, and was included in the Drake meet in order that coaches and trainers might have an opportunity to get a line on the ability of their stars in this race.

On the Saturday program the quarter-mile, half-mile, two-mile and four-mile relay races, university section, should furnish thrills for the fans, as well as the finals in dashes, hurdles and various field vents.

Felding H. Yost, athletic director of University of Michigan, is to act as referee of the Drake meet this year. John L. Griffith, who founded the Western relay classic fifteen years ago, and who is at present athletic commissioner of the Western Conference, will serve as starter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kay, of Science Hall, were Mexia visitors Saturday.

EASTER BUYING PAYS, IF MONEY IS WISELY SPENT

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of United Press)
(Written for United Press)
NEW YORK, April 17.—(United Press.)—

Now's the time that Father is treated like a King. The reason for this being The time is coming Spring!

He's buying Easter's gown, A Fan for sister Fanny, A Bertha for young Bertha Ann, Georgette for Georgianna. He pays a Bet for Betty Jane, Agrees to fit Nancy Nancy; For little Hattie buys a Hat, A Vest for Vesta Pansy. He's Lissened up for sister Lou, He's given Grace an I.O.U., But the dose that was the bitter pill Was Paying Barbara's Barber bill!

"And Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these!"

How many fathers have felt that way when they regarded their offspring on Easter Sabbath? How many hearts have been proud and happy on Easter day, regardless of flattened pocket books?

When I see the happiness in the eyes of the little tenement children on Easter Sabbath, the thrill of their fresh, pink hair ribbons, their new Spring shoes and their trimmed-over hats, I feel sure that the money spent on the renewal of the Spring wardrobe is money well spent. Often the families of moderate means are large and Easter bedecking means a sacrifice on the part of the parents, but it occurs to me that the sacrifice is well worth while.

Buy Lasting Goods!

Buying Easter garments which will be of use throughout the Spring and Summer season is a sensible conclusion. Over-dressy effects which were popular some years back are no longer the Easter vogue. The little Miss of today prefers a simple tailored suit, with a pretty blouse and street hat, to a fussy, frilled gown and a lacy hat for Easter. She selects something which will be suitable for seven days of the week—something of which she will not tire.

The logical thing for the slender Miss is the tailored suit of boyish lines, varieties of which may be seen in the department stores and shops. There are many types of girls, however, who should not attempt the tailored. To begin with, the over-plump person looks anything but rakish in a mannish tailored suit. A pink-and-white, forget-me-not type girl is likewise lost completely in the swagger of the tailor. Those who are inclined to assume the mannerisms of a man are decidedly unattractive when wearing mannish collars, swagger sticks and derby-typed hats. Women who cannot appear well-groomed in a tailored suit appear shabby in garments whose chief charms lie in their correctness of detail. Earrings, pearl necklaces, georgette blouses and such rish the entire idea of the tailored vogue.

For Large Women.

For those of mature proportions, the long coat or wrap and one-piece dress offers both style and utility. Large women often wear dressy types of garments better than they do tailored types, and the long coat is certainly more dressy than the suit, since an assortment of frocks may be worn beneath it.

Fur trims for most of the Spring coats and wraps extend about the collar and down the front, close to the hem in many instances. Coats such as these will be of use in the Fall months.

Short fur coats will undoubtedly be worn by many of the smart women on Easter, but unless one can afford to purchase a cloth garment later it is foolish to have one of these, as the warm months are upon us before we realize it.

Fur neckpieces, on the other hand, will be worn all during the Summer months, as they have been in previous seasons. Small skins, such as mink, squirrel and ermine chokers, are preferred types this year. Small foxes are still used, although large skins as a rule are not as popular as small ones. A large person, of course, can wear a large furpiece better than she can a small one, so she must disregard the vogue to some extent.

Sounds Like Enemy's Suggestion.

Women Responsible For Good As Well As The Bad Men

HOUSTON, Texas, April 18.—"The story of Adam and Eve is correct. Most every boy who gets into trouble has been led astray by some girl."

This was the statement of Mrs. Eva Belcher, Houston policewoman who handles all the juvenile cases here.

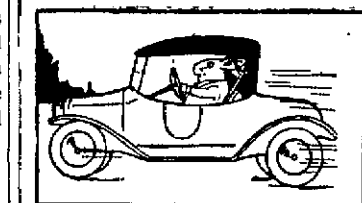

"Once that pair of brown eyes get fixed on his, and the acquisitive instinct all women possess starts to manifest itself, the poor fellow might just as well sign away the liberty of his own action. He is not longer to be held responsible to anybody, not even to himself."

"The rule works the way around," continued the policewoman, "When a boy is good, do not give him any credit. There is a girl at the bottom of it all. She deserves the credit."

"Keep the girls right, and the boys will be perfect gentlemen," she concluded.

VALUABLE ADDITION TO THE LIBRARY

What the general reader of the Bible most wants to know is covered by many pages of help—these might be called an appendix—which are with in the covers—limp bound, by the way—of the new Big Print, Red Letter Edition of the Bible now being distributed to readers of this paper. This volume and appendix are as essential in a library as an encyclopedia. On the average book shelf, where the number of books do not warrant the term library, such a Bible is ever more necessary. The smaller the collection, the more important it is to have it comprise the best and most concise of reference works.

This is the best edition that has ever been offered to the public for much more than the present nominal cost and the three coupons. The red letter feature of Christ's words alone mark a special desirability. Then there are the comprehensive annotations and the halftones which add immeasurably to its value. Even with other Bibles in the home, this particular edition should be there also for its convenience and for the excellence of its additional information other than the regular text. The coupon offer is explained in another part of this issue.

GONE TO REST.

Mrs. Annie Ragland Cline, age twenty, was called to rest April 6. She leaves husband, mother, father, sisters and brothers, besides a number of relatives and a host of friends. She was very industrious and possessed a winning personality. God gave her a beautiful face and smile with which she won friends every where she went. I have often called her Sunshine because it could be seen that she, with her sweet temper was the sunshine of her home. And oh, how we miss her.

Although we can't understand now, God had other plans for her, rather than staying here. Her playmates at school and chums elsewhere learned to love her very much, and are deeply grieved at having to give her up.

—A Friend.

It's getting to be a byword like "Safety First," or other common phrases but "Remember the 23rd" still means a lot to baseball fans in Mexia and for miles around. Only five more days before the Oilers and the Gushers clash upon the local diamond and before Mexia gets away to a flying start toward the pennant which the home club earned last year but failed to capture.

With six Mayors to be the guests of the Gushers on the eventful day it is hinted that something besides baseball may be added to the attractions at Gusher Park next Wednesday.

Mexia has as good a chance as any city in the Texas Association to win the silver loving cup which President Johnson of the league offers to the city having the largest attendance at the opening game of the season. The contest is to be determined according to the population of the city, that is on a percentage basis. How about bringing that cup to Mexia? It can be done.

Mexia business section will be practically closed up next Wednesday when the Gushers meet the Corsicana Oilers at Gusher park. The cafes have not been asked to close as it is almost imperative that such places of business be open for the convenience of the public. Who said Mexia doesn't back its club?

Three more players were released by the Gushers Wednesday. McCaw, Hensley, and Phipps were given the releases just before the club started on its exhibition trip to Tyler to face the Trojans in three tilts.

Mayor Cockran, of Teague Mayor Brown, of Groesbeck, Mayor Gamel, of Coolidge, Mayor Reese, of Tehuacana and Mayor Watson, of Mexia will be the guests of the Mexia Baseball club on the Big Day, when the Gushers and the Oilers start the race for the Texas Association pennant next Wednesday at Gusher park.

Marlin opens with the Indians at Marlin on the twenty fifth.

The Mt. Pleasant Cats of the East Texas League defeated the Corsicana Oilers of the Texas Association Tuesday afternoon in the exhibition game which was played in Mt. Pleasant by a score of 6-0. The two teams play the second game of the two game series in Mt. Pleasant this afternoon. From Mt. Pleasant the Oilers go to Marshall for three games with the Marshall Indians and then home against the Tyler Trojans.

Greasett, pitcher who has been with the Dallas Steers of the Texas League this spring, was returned to the Marlin Bathers of the Texas Association Tuesday and he will bolster up and add strength to the batter pitching corps.

The Marlin Bathers of the Texas Association defeated the Tyler Trojans of the East Texas League in Marlin Tuesday 6-1.

Geology & Streams

By R. R. EDSON, Geologist

The coastal plain of Texas represents a topographical table land as nearly featureless perhaps in its broad expanse as any part of North America. This topographical plain is however cut and scarred by the winding threads of many streams and rivers as they continue their burden of carrying off circulating meteoric waters. The total area extending far back into the mid-continent was at one time the bottom of the Great Cretaceous Sea. Many periods of rest with gradual upbuilding of shore lines alternating with periods of disturbance and wearing away occurred before it reached its present stage of development.

This state of upbuilding and wearing away goes on continually in accordance with the law circulating matter. After coming to rest in more or less its present state of development streams and rivers began their work of wearing away and carrying off their burden of gravel and silt to be deposited at the meeting of tide-water and continue the process of extending the shore line further out to sea.

All the agencies of nature follow the one tendency that of tearing down the high places and leveling up the low places. The wind and the rain carry and wash the dust and fine particles from the higher to the lower levels. The action of the air and the frost disintegrate and crumble the material even the hardest rocks which are reduced to still finer substance and furnish matter to load the constantly circulating streams and rivers on their course to the sea level.

Were there no opposing force during all the ages of time in the earth's history the higher places would all be worn away and the earth leveled up and be entirely covered with water. However there is such opposing force or forces. There is a dynamic force which often gives vent to itself in the form of giant volcanoes and pours forth almost unbelievable masses of igneous or aqueous material from the bowels of the earth. This material is called lava or volcanic ash as the case may be. Some of the greatest mountains known are built up largely of one or the other of these materials and they constitute part of the earth's formation almost everywhere. The amount of material emitted from one of these giant volcanoes is truly immense. As an instance when Mt. Katmia cofeano Alaska erupted some years ago the National Geographic Society sent an expedition of trained volcanists to make an investigation. They reported that the amount of material expelled through the throat of Mt. Katmia crater would cover the surface of the entire New England states to a depth of four feet. The material emitted in this case was volcanic ash water and gas and the investigators were obliged to go about in rafts and boats to cover part of the area. There is another and perhaps greater opposing force. This is the gradual and sometimes likely imperceptible folding and crumpling of the earth's surface and this force is no doubt responsible for most of the unevenness of the surface of the earth. It is this gradual and low folding that is the cause of most of the structural forms containing oil and gas sometimes in enormous quantities. Warping and folding attended by giant thrust movements cause the elevation of the earth's surface into great mountain ranges. On the flanks and sides of these mountain ranges can be seen the sedimentary bedded formations in their successive layers from the earliest to the latest. All large rivers and many of the smaller streams have their source or utmost inception on the lofty peaks of mountain ranges. Meteoric waters in the form of rain and snow fall on the high peaks of the mountains where it in turn begins its natural travel to the sea. Hence it is obvious that all large streams heading in the mountains must cut across all the successive layers of formations as they carve their stream beds on their flow to the sea.

The winding course of all streams and rivers has given rise to the study of streamology as a possible field of its own. This in turn suggests the idea of what effect different geological horizons with their varied structural forms may have in influencing or determining the meander lines seen in all streams. If as seen above all large streams must run across the different layers of formation on their course to the sea, then it follows that the lesser and smaller streams and rivulets gathering lines on the flanks of major streams must flow more or less with the upturned edges of the different strata of formation. Many well known structural forms rich in production of oil and gas are outlined in relief by the course of rivers and smaller streams.

To such a degree is this evident in salt dome structures that even an untrained observer thoroughly familiar with the topography of one typical salt dome may be able to predict the presence of another by the singular and characteristic features of drainage system common to all of them. The Butler salt dome area stands in a considerable bend of the Trinity river. Such bend of river may have been and probably was influenced by the structural formative conditions shown at this point. Butler salt dome proper has the usual characteristic markings of salt domes. The occurrence of several of these salt domes on a line centering through Butler district in manner observed suggests an orderly system of arrangement. Such an orderly system of geologic structural arrangement could duly be along a line of general weakness and deformity and no doubt holds good in this case. The line of strike of this series of salt domes about north twenty-five degrees east is almost parallel to line of strike of contact line between the per crataceous and lower eocene division of formations as shown by geological charts.

The geographical position of this structural formation is such that it is cut across by many large streams. At point of crossing of Trinity river occurs many odd and interesting places which may be or may not be of importance to a geological study. South a little west of Butler dome on same line of trend are several structural forms some of which are set out in nice relief by the course of surrounding small streams. Except in one instance "Edwards well" on drilling for oil and gas has ever been done. In this well a fair showing of gas was reported at 2610 feet. Some three or four tests are promised for the near future, among them the L. A. Smith location on Edwards ranch has machinery in place and ready to start on a site favorably marked by the course of streams outlining the structure in relief. That satisfactory and profitable able results will follow the development of this district may be safely predicted.

THE PLOT THICKENS

Springtime Annie Again.

Yes, A. B. R. I will excuse Your flirtation with the muse In Thursday's columns of the News. In fact I like your charming verse, Your witticisms sly and terse And all the jokes you intersperse. But you can never once induce My fertile brain to put to use Such foolish rhymes as you produce!

Fair Annie I shall not offend By rhyming her when I extend, With words like these you recommend.

O, the Shades of sad Pandora! I'll not use the word "angora" In reference to my fair Senora! You say that I should rhyme with "Annie!"

A word like "goat" intend of "nannie!"— And thus offend my springtime Annie!

O, you lawyer, smooth and sly! You want her love for me to die. So that she will pass me by. You want that girl, so fair and sweet, To give YOU kisses when you meet And make YOUR lap her loving seat—

And then you'll gloat at my defeat! But, Judge, I'll never fail for that, For on my knees she often sat And her fair cheeks I love to pat.

So you, Judge, may as well be calm, Your disappointed heart embalm And croon love's final funeral psalm.

You shall not hold her tender palm! Electric strength, ecstatic bliss, She's found I have in e'ry kiss,— Your onions, now she will not miss; Your words, she says, she will not trust,— Her tender heart you tried to bust And now she's left you in disgust And calls Me her sweet weiner wust!

So all my sweet poetic cries You, dear Judge, may criticize Any time you think it wise,— But Annie is MY special prize— I'm the apple of her eyes— She's MY and I'm her flies. I'll not follow your suggestion— It would give love bad congestion, Though your brilliance none can question.

—B. B. H.

PAVEMENT AND BICYCLES GO TOGETHER FINE

The Sunday edition of the Mexia Daily News will carry some very important news for every boy and girl in Mexia or for 25 miles around Mexia. In that edition there will be an announcement which has been looked forward to for some time since Mexia has added so many miles of smooth, paved surface to its streets and since the highways leading into the city have been placed in such good condition.

Many a boy and girl has wished for a bicycle. Now through the efforts of the circulation department of the Mexia Daily News many of them will be able to realize this ambition. For a very little work on their part each boy or girl can become the owner of a bright shiny $55.00 bicycle. This is not a contest and the number of bicycles to be given away is not limited to any number. Each boy and girl has the opportunity of earning a bicycle.

Be sure and read the big announcement in the Sunday's News.

Salts Fine For Aching Kidneys

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps to neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—(Adv.)

Notorious Outlaw Electrocuted In Arkansas

Last Of Gang Pays Penalty For Crimes Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 18.—“Diamond Joe” Sullivan, last of the Southwest’s notorious outlaws, went to his death in the electric chair here today—good Friday—without an outward sign of the “yellow streak” attributed to him by underworld associates.

The prisoner walked to the chair with an air of gay carelessness and ease that astounded spectators. He maintained his calm and unconcerned attitude as the adjustments were made and until the switch was turned on.

At 5:37, a bolt of electricity, 2,300 volts strong was sent through his body and he paid the penalty for a career of crime and banditry extending over the last decade. He was electrocuted for the specific crime of slaying a Little Rock detective last year.

Because he was the only one of a long list of outlaws who hanged Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas in the last twenty years, to meet death in an electric chair or on the scaffold, fellow crooks passed around the word that Sullivan was yellow—afraid to take a chance of being killed “with his boots on.”

Whether “Diamond Joe” was fearless, or yellow became a subject of bitter controversy in police and outlaw circles.

As Warden Evans entered the death cell and read the warrant of execution as the first streaks of dawn began to show through the narrow, barred window, there was no sign of fear on the gun-man’s face. He listened attentively and witnesses thought there was even a trace of relief showing in the prisoner’s eyes. There was a faint, cardiac smile on his lips.

Sullivan led the grim procession of witnesses and deputies to the chair room. He glanced in some surprise and amusement, at the curious crowd which had gathered to see him die—about twenty-five.

Sullivan took his place in the death chair with no show of emotion. He placed his wounded arm—shattered by the accidental discharge of Emory Connell’s revolver following their escape from the penitentiary—across his lap, and looked up into the face of the Catholic priest who had been constantly at his side.

As the death room attendants adjusted the straps to his legs and arms and braced his body against the shock which was to come, the priest intoned a prayer for mercy.

The desperado repeated it, in a low, calm voice, until the tightening of the “face mask” silenced him.

“My Jesus, mercy!”

Those were Sullivan’s last words as the “juice” struck him. He was pronounced dead one minute later.

“He sure wasn’t yellow,” whispered a detective who witnessed the execution.

All of Sullivan’s associates had met death while “shooting it out” with authorities. They included Tom Slaughter, Eddie Adams, Ed Lockhart and Al Spencer.

Adams was credited with starting Sullivan on his career as an outlaw and bandit and teaching him the tricks of the trade.

Sullivan was a native of St. Louis. His father was a wealthy brewer there. When a young man, he was taken to Wichita where he met Adams. While associated with the Adams gang, Sullivan met a woman who undertook to school him in outlawry. On their first job together, the flowing of a postoffice safe, the woman declared that after the safe had been wrecked by an explosion Sullivan lost his nerve and wanted to flee. The woman declared she grabbed his revolver from his trembling hand and forced him to enter the vault and bring out the valuables at the point of his own gun.

That tale gave rise to the whisperings that Sullivan was “yellow.” He served two prison terms. Last year while in Little Rock with

Mrs. Hilton Phillipson, one of Great Britain’s eight women members of Parliament, called the “chorus girl M. P.” has resolved to resign in order to devote her time to the care of her three children, the eldest of whom is six. Captain Phillipson, her husband, who probably will succeed her as a Conservative from Berwick, declared his wife regards motherhood as the most important thing in her life. Before her marriage Mrs. Phillipson was Mabel Russell, musical comedy star and member of the chorus.

POWELL PRODUCES MORE THAN 40,000,000 BARRELS OF OIL SINCE DISCOVERY

J. K. Hughes, President of the J. K. Hughes Developing Company, is in Richland and Powell sectors of the Mexia oil fields today. Activity at Richland has been at a standstill for several days but a very active drilling campaign is in prospect. The Richland Eslick has reached a depth around 2600 feet.

The No. 2-B Hill of the John Hooser was completed Thursday with an initial flow of 13555 barrels an hour. The well is the second one on the 15-acre “B” lease of John Hooser.

It is reported that the Boyd Oil Company has cemented casing on the Nowlin test at Bazette. The Johnson continues drilling on the Skiles test. The Masters company test on the Easterling near Chatfield is down to 12000 feet with drilling going on with a day and night crew, according to announcement. The log is reported running regular with the structure in the Powell area of the gusher district.

The production at Powell is still above 125,000 barrels daily and at Mexia is above 30,000. The Powell field has produced more than 40,000,000 barrels of oil since its discovery about a year ago.

No new developments occur this week in the Mexia field.

Mr. and Mrs. David Murphy were visitors to Groesbeck last week.

Emory Connell, a fellow bandit, two detectives surprised them disposing of stolen jewelry. Sullivan and Connell opened fire and killed both officers. The outlaws were captured shortly after and sentenced to death. Last February, while awaiting execution of the sentence, Sullivan, Connell and Eulos Sullivan, the latter another convicted murderer, escaped. After a week’s chase, Connell and Eulos Sullivan were killed by possees and “Diamond Joe,” wounded by the accidental discharge of Connell’s gun, was captured.

He was kept under close guard until the death sentence was carried out today.

BUSINESS WOMEN TO AFFILIATE WITH STATE CLUBS

The Business Women’s Club of Mexia, through its Chairman of Entertainment, Mrs. Rose Parker, staged a most successful luncheon in the Majestic Hotel dining room, this being the second meeting of the organization. Club members responded promptly and at 7:30 p. m. over twenty members, representing different lines of business and professions, together with several guests, sat down to an unusually fine luncheon.

Ten minute speeches were the order, and Rev. G. T. Reaves made the opening address, carrying out the theme of cheerfulness. His humorous remarks sprinkled with a seriousness of thought were heartily applauded.

Mr. J. I. Riddle gave several suggestions that will aid the Club in their purpose of assisting other clubs in beautifying Mexia, emphasizing the City Park. His suggestions were appreciated, and the Club will be benefited thereby.

The Club was delightfully entertained with a duet by Miss Priddy and Mr. Bell, accompanied by Mrs. Ira Needham at the piano.

Mr. I. W. Keyes in his closing address remarked that it seemed we had called upon Rev. Reaves for spiritual advice and Mr. Riddle for an undertaker’s advice, consequently he took it that we expected him to not fall down on the legal side of the question. We were convinced that Mr. Keyes proved his ability by the splendid talk that he made, making it clear that he had the interest of the club at heart. In behalf of the other guests he voiced his appreciation of the luncheon and the thoughts which prompted it.

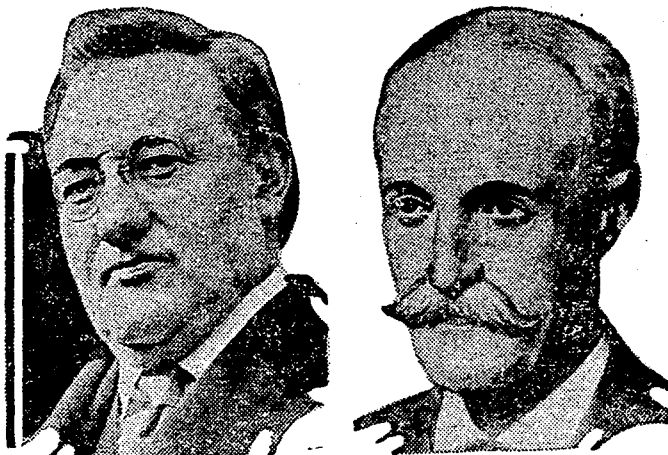

After our President, Miss G. L. James, dismissed the guests, a business meeting followed. It was unanimously voted that the Club make preparations at once to become affiliated with the State and National Federation. Mrs. Hester M. Cope, who assisted in the organization of the Business Women’s Club of Mexia, was elected honorary member. Two charter members were added to our list, Miss Anna Lou Karner and Miss Golda Curtis. The meeting adjourned to meet April 21st at 8 p. m. in the Elks club.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas.—Tommy Curry, jelly-bean negro, was punctilious about his habits, even to the last breath. Before dying in the electric chair today for the murder of his mother, Curry requested that he be buried in white socks and white gloves. It was his last request—and was granted.

In a speech before the National Democratic Club in New York, Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, attacked the prohibition amendment and demanded that future amendments be referred to popular referendum after being passed by State Legislatures. STRAW HAT DAY BOY SCOUTS TO SATURDAY IS ANNOUNCED BY FIRMS

The hat houses of Mexia are today advertising that Saturday is Straw Hat Day in Mexia. They are in line with other cities in this section and when Saturday night comes, it is expected that they will have fitted hundreds of citizens in new straw regalia with which to fall in line with the well dressed of the community on Easter Sunday and out at the ball park Wednesday.

One straw hat has already appeared in Mexia. Afternoon Saturday, it will again be a common sight in the city and those without straws will cause folks to remember the mother who thought with pride of her John who was the only man in step in the entire regiment.

Friends Unable To Save Them Or Flaming Cottage

COPEVILLE, Texas, April 18.—Mrs. William McSpadden, a widow, and three of her four children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their frame cottage here. The widow and two girls, Eileen, aged 16 and Russie, aged 10 and a boy, Lockett, aged 15, succumbed to the flames while Auburn, aged 14, escaped and aroused the neighbors who volunteered to fight the fire. The house was a mass of flames when the neighbors arrived and they were unable to save the mother and the three children whose bodies were burned beyond recognition.

Methodists To Baptise Babies Sunday Morning

The largest crowd yet to attend the Methodist Revival was present Thursday night to hear another great sermon by the pastor, Rev. W. B. Andrews. He preached on the buried talent. He pointed out that men bury their talents by neglect; that talents are God’s supreme gift to men, His royal gifts and that they must be used else they become as the buried talent, a loss to God and men.

He announced that tonight would be the last week night service of the revival which would close Sunday.

At the 11 o’clock hour Sunday, Rev. Andrews will officiate at the infant baptismal service. He expressed a hope that it would be a fair day so that mothers and fathers might bring their children for this occasion. He also stated that he would preach on “Why Men Join a Church.”

It is urged that every member be in his and her place at the service tonight.

The meeting has been of great service to the church and congregation and great emphasis is being placed on these closing services.

INSTRUCT ALL THE WAY

Biographies of those who did something to attain unusual prominence often include the statement that the subject of the biography "had no fear of public opinion." This is meant to be praise of the highest kind and usually is so regarded. It implies that the person had convictions of his own and was courageous enough to act on them.

It is, therefore, to the credit of Governor Pat M. Neff that he has taken to the stump in an effort to induce public opinion to accept his theory of a partly uninstructed delegation of Democrats to the National Convention in New York City this summer. He has displayed a courage in this matter the like of which he has brought to his office ever since he was elevated to power in the Executive Department of the State of Texas.

On the other hand, Governor Neff and every other politician must be very careful else prejudice and stubbornness will enter to crowd out the wiser decisions that are reached calmly and deliberately, with all the evidence from all of the conflicting but important factors in hand and mind. The truly great of our commonwealth is not tempted to put his ear to the ground or to be tossed about by every trivial breeze of impulsive clamoring. But he does have a deeply rooted respect for the opinions of his fellow men.

This afternoon the Governor is speaking in Groesbeck and in other towns in this part of the state, pleading for an instructed delegation as to principles but uninstructed as to the party's choice for the Presidency. The Governor is usually right but in this instance, the human in him has asserted itself and he is giving expression to an erroneous idea of government. The Governor is a good man himself and has drawn a conclusion that all men are equally good, which is indeed commendable and chivalrous in him. Many of his very closest friends believe differently from him in this particular instance and the same friendly relation exist despite their differences.

Times have impressed voters every where with the wisdom of giving more attention today than ever to the men and women whom they entrust with public service and responsibility in office or in convention of political parties. If the Governor is right in urging that a delegation be instructed as to principles, then he is wrong in urging that an uninstructed delegation as to nomination be sent to New York, the home of Al Smith whose delegates are instructed for him. The theory cannot be applied in one instance and withdrawn in the other. If Texas sends an instructed delegation as to principles it must also send one instructed as to men. Men and principles are closely associated in our kind of a government.

If the people of Texas do not instruct their delegates as to whom they should choose for President, then they thereby and then relinquish their right to select a President by giving their proxy to forty delegates. They shift the responsibility. The theory could be applied to voting on local officers with as much logic and good reason as on the larger office of National President. What would you think of a voter who would tell you to go to the polls and cast your vote in favor of a certain principle and while there vote for some man who was in favor of the principles that you believed in? Why not do your full duty in this instance and tell the Texas delegation exactly how to vote, and specifically whom to vote for?

Woman is a conundrum that keeps men guessing. On the program of human events women are the consolation race. Scotland Yard's collection of finger prints numbers nearly 380,000. Some men ought to be ashamed of themselves if they are acquainted. L. M. Lanston of Chandler, Texas, was in the city Wednesday. L. M. Cheek of Waco was a visitor to the city Wednesday.

THE EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

THE PROPOSED COTTON CENSUS

Houston Post

Senator Robinson of Arkansas has introduced a bill in the senate authorizing the census bureau to make an immediate count of the number of bales of cotton held on farms, in warehouses and in mills, and to estimate the number of bales each grade so held.

Whether the bureau could make the count in time to be of much service to the farmers who are now considering how large an acreage to plant is problematical. The farmers just now are interested both in the amount of the holdover from the old crop and the probable demand in the new season. The latter is necessarily a matter of opinion, but to know the amount of cotton now on hand would help some in gauging the acreage this year.

The count also would be of use in supplying the market with information as to the holdover and thus help to keep prices of cotton somewhat in line with the supply.

An error in the government reports of stocks on hand and an exaggerated forecast last year cost the holders of cotton millions of dollars. The market recovered later when the errors were discovered but those who sold their cotton on the unwarranted decline, could not recuperate their losses.

If it be feasible to take immediately the count the Arkansas senator suggests, it doubtless would be a good thing. The farmer is entitled to accurate statistics, and he should be protected from wild guesses as to acreage, altogether.

Perhaps, if we would blame the customer a little more and the boot-licker less, we might get some place with the illicit liquor business.—Lincoln, Kans., Republican.

Some people are inclined to heap a load of criticism upon the young people of the community, without stopping to think that the present environment of these youngsters was made by the older people. If it is not a proper one, the child should not be too severely blamed.—Arkansas City Traveler.

A number of the elderly ladies of Altoona have had their hair bobbed. The bobbed hair epidemic has struck our fair city in full force. Most of the little girls here have had their heads shaved for some time, but the older sisters did not get the disease until last week, and now the barber shops are rushed more than a 10-cent store is on a Saturday afternoon, or the postoffice on the day before Christmas. One woman, however, has gone to the extreme. She probably has seen fifty celebrations of the Fourth of July, but the prevalent ailment has enveloped her completely.

Ladies! Your sandwiches will be ready here tomorrow. TIDWELL'S.

She not only had her beautiful tresses amputated, but she has had the tails of the family cat and dog cut off. She also had their old mare's tail docked, and has made her husband cut off his mustache. Evidently the bobbed hair epidemic elsewhere is dying out, as it has just hit Altoona. Other places had the flu quite a while before it got to the Gem of the Verdigris. It is said the men folks of Altoona will soon start to wearing bustles.—Altoona, Kans., Tribune.

Every community has a few individuals who never contribute a dollar to community enterprise, and they are also the fellows who criticize the way the other fellow spends his community dollars.—McCune, Kansas, Herald.

We are told, every day, that women can look at things differently from men. To be sure, a woman looks at things as they affect her—a man as they affect him. Yet a thousand women are very likely to reach the same conclusion on a given matter as an equal number of men.—Lamar Democrat.

Nothing annoys a woman more than to be kept in by illness when all the papers are full of dry goods ads.—Atchison Globe.

Thought for the Day

By A. Garland Adair

Man is born for action. Work awakens a sleeping force and roots out error. Who does nothing, knows nothing.

Popular ideas, especially popular fallacies are hard to combat.

If you are told something in your youth, particularly if it is something your mother believed, it is very difficult to get that idea out of your mind, even if science should prove it untrue.

Seek not so much to know your enemies as your friends, for where one man has fallen by foes a hundred have been ruined by acquaintances.

No good effort is ever lost. He who can suppress a moment's anger may prevent a day or even years of sorrow.

If all would cease to satisfy their greed, but few would fail to satisfy their needs.

If you don't do your best, you will get the worst of it in the end.

After all the shortest road is the straightest road.

Purpose and perspiration are a winning team.

The Fort Worth Cats kinda took the kink out of the Dallas Steers on the opening day at Dallas by defeating the Morrismen largely by home runs. The Dallas team then turned right around and defeated the Panthers on their home grounds in the second game of the season.

Kinda-funny incident in the Texas League all right when every club besides Fort Worth, that won the first day won the second. Dallas and Fort Worth are the only .500 clubs in the loop.

Tris Speaker and his Cleveland Indians got off at a bad place when they stopped at Detroit to open the season. The Tigers took two falls out of the Tribe and on the third day rain prevented their playing.

Everyone be sure and visit Gusher park Wednesday afternoon to see the ball tossers of Manager Fowlkes hand a nice little bunch of flowers to Johnny Vann's Corsicana Oilers. Vann has a nice collection of ball players in the Oilers camp and will give someone fits for the rag this season.

Was Raving Beauty In Her Youth

So many people are now insisting on Black and White Ointment to get rid of pimples, blotches, eczema, rash, tetter, ringworm, "breaking out," etc., because they see and hear of the thousands of others who know they can depend on it. And it is more economical, too. The 50c size contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size. All dealers have it.—(Adv.)

It is hard to tell just who Fowlkes will start in the box but to make a guess it will either be Sanders or Crow. Sanders is in better shape than any of the others as he has been in training longer. He showed up good against the Tyler Trojans in the series here.

DALLAS, Texas.—A grand jury here is investigating complaints of welfare workers that the leader of a colony of "holy-rollers" here fled with his parishioners' money, after telling them it would be used to "finance" the second coming of Christ. According to the story of welfare workers, several members of the Pentecostal faith sold their worldly possessions when their pastor told them the world was coming to an end and the Lord was returning to earth. The minister took the money and went out to "meet Jesus," they said, leaving the flock destitute.

NEW YORK.—Proposal to lease Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford is a "startling gift," ranking with other present day "exposures," Representative Harry E. Hull, Iowa, told the Women's republican club here. Hull said it would be an issue in the coming presidential campaign. He said the proposal was a democratic one, fostered by southern and other democratic members of the house.

DALLAS, Texas.—"Jesus Christ was the world's master salesman and the Bible is the greatest sales manual ever written," Frank E. Moran told the Dallas Salesmanship club. Members of the Dallas Pastors' Association attended the salesman's meeting to hear the discussed subject, "If I Were a Preacher, I would be less a theologian and more a friend," Moran said.

UNITED PRESS DAILY LETTER

WASHINGTON.—American composers have appeared before the senate patents committee in opposition to the Dill Radio bill. Gene Buck, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers testified the songwriters would be "wiped out almost overnight" if their copyrighted works were allowed to be broadcasted without profit to them, as provided in the bill. Joining in the chorus was Augustus Thomas, famous playwright, Victor Herbert, noted composer, John Phillip Sousa, band-master and many writers of jazz hits.

PITTSBURG, Texas.—Seven persons bitten by a mad dog owned by Ben Hoffman, farmer, near here, were taken to Austin for treatment at the Pasteur institute. Hoffman killed the dog with a pocketknife after a desperate battle. Five of the victims were children of Hoffman.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Helen F. Bernhold was awarded $10,000 from her landlord when a jury returned a verdict that her husband died from pneumonia contracted in a heatless apartment. Mrs. Bernhold charged her husband contracted pneumonia during the winter of four years ago because the landlord failed to supply sufficient heat, despite repeated appeals.

FEATS OF

The feast of Easter, commemorating the glorious resurrection of Christ, will be celebrated at St. Mary's by High Mass at 9 a. m., Easter Sunday morning. The usual hour for services at St. Mary's is 8:30, but owing to the urgent request of so many non-Catholic friends of the parish who wish to attend these services and also worship at their own churches, Father Kelley has advanced the time so that services at St. Mary's will be over in ample time. The High Mass will be celebrated by Rev. P. P. Forrestal, of St. Edwards College, Austin, Texas. The musical program of the Mass will be as follows:

Concone's Mass in F.

CLASSIFICATION

AUSTIN, Texas, April 17.—More than a hundred high schools have already approved the plan to divide competitive schools in football into two classes, according to Roy B. Henderson, director of athletics in the Inter-scholastic League. The plan was submitted to the schools over the state recently, and the hasty approval of both large and small schools indicates its unqualified success.

The two classes are to be known as Conference A and Conference B. The basis of the division is an enrollment of 350 in the high school.

"Schools that fall into both classes favor the plan, because a defeat of any team in either conference will not prevent the defeated team from playing teams in the other conference," said Henderson.

D. A. R. OPENS 33D CONGRESS IN WASHINGTON.

MRS. A. V. COOK and HER SUITE

The thirty-third Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution has opened in Washington. Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president-general, officiated. Two thousand delegates were present. Mrs. Cook (in centre) is shown here surrounded by her pages.

CHIEF FIGURES IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Below: MASANO HANIHARA, HENRY CABOT LODGE

The letter of Masano Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, to Secretary of State Hughes, warning him that "grave consequences" would follow Congressional action excluding Japanese from the United States, so aroused Senator Henry Cabot Lodge that he called the envoy's action "improper." Hanihara's recall is expected in Washington. U. S. Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, formally reported the Soldier Bonus bill to the Upper House, ahead of the tax reduction measure. Led by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Democratic women in New York State revolted from the domination of Tammany Hall and demanded, in the State convention in Albany, the right to name their own delegates-at-large to the National Convention.

TOKIO, April 18.—There is no present intention on the part of the Japanese government to recall M. Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador to Washington, Premier Kiyoura, formally announced today. The possibility of his recall was discussed by the Japanese press as a result of the Ambassador's letter to Secretary of State Hughes on the American Japanese exclusion measure.

Edwin Falvey was here Friday from Waco.

THE WORLD IN TABLOID

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today appointed a special sub-committee to hold hearings on the proposal of the late President Harding that the United States should participate in a World Court. This is the first action of the committee on the proposal since it was submitted to Congress before Harding died.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Speaker Gillet, of the House of Representatives, had a trunk full of liquor seized by the Department of Justice in 1920. H. L. Scaffie, former Department of Justice agent, charged before Senate Investigating Committee. Scaffie said he got his information from Gaston B. Means.

SAN ANTONIO, April 18.—Lieut. W. A. Fredericks and Flying Cadet R. R. McCully, were burned to death when their airplane in which they were practicing night flying at Kelly Field last night, crashed. Fredericks' home was at George West, Texas, while McCully's was at Columbia, N. C. Both were married.

AUGUSTA, Kansas, April 18.—An unidentified bandit was killed and A Jenkins, a policeman, seriously wounded, as a result of a gun battle when the officer caught the bandit in the act of robbing a filling station.

NEW ORLEANS, April 18.—Fifty persons were injured and twenty-five homes were destroyed by a cyclone accompanied by hail and rain-storm which swept New Orleans. None of the injured were hurt seriously. The damage to property is estimated at half a million.

Mexia Company Increases Its Capital Stock

Each week sees business changes, additions and expansions in Mexia that reflect a healthy condition and flourishing growth in this community.

One of the notable events in business circles here this week was that of the J. I. Riddle and Company, furniture dealers and undertakers, met at the office of the company and decided to increase the capital stock from $50,000 to $80,000.

Also at this meeting officers and directors were elected, as follows: J. I. Riddle, President and General Manager.

J. H. Cason, Vice President.

O. P. Potts, Secretary and Treasurer.

J. I. Riddle, A. G. Koenig, Q. P. Potts, J. H. Cason and Mrs. J. I. Riddle.

The business occupies a handsome three story brick building in the 300 block on East Commerce. The stock of goods occupies all three floors and affords a display which attracts favorable comment. The establishment is one of the largest of its kind between Houston and Dallas and worthy of a city much larger in population. The place has been well advertised all over this part of Texas and customers call daily from many miles around.

H. Hebert, of Corsicana, was in the city Friday.

1500 Athletes Are Ready for Relays At Drake Carnival

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 18.—The fifteenth annual Drake University relay meet is expected to draw approximately 1,500 athletes and 30,000 track and field fans who will compete in and attend the two-day athletic carnival Friday and Saturday. More than a hundred leading universities, colleges and high schools will be represented.

Attractive events have been scheduled by Athletic Director K. L. Wilson of Drake in arranging the program. A special 100-dash will headline the this year.

Harold Osborne, former University of Illinois star, will attempt to smash the world's high jump record of 6 feet 7 5-16 inches. At present Osborne holds the Drake meet record for the high jump, 6 feet 6 inches, which he established in 1922 before completing his college career. Regularly, in recent practices, he has been pumping 6 feet 7 inches, and he stands an excellent chance of setting a new mark for the event, his friends say.

The 440-yard low hurdles will be another of the special events for Friday. This is one of the important Olympic Game events, and was included in the Drake meet in order that coaches and trainers might have an opportunity to get a line on the ability of their stars in this race.

On the Saturday program the quarter-mile, half-mile, two-mile and four-mile relay races, university section, should furnish thrills for the fans, as well as the finals in dashes, hurdles and various field vents.

Fielding H. Yost, athletic director of University of Michigan, is to act as referee of the Drake meet this year. John L. Griffith, who founded the Western relay classic fifteen years ago, and who is at present athletic commissioner of the Western Conference, will serve as starter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kay, of Science Hall, were Mexia visitors Saturday.

EASTER BUYING PAYS, IF MONEY IS WISELY SPENT

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of United Press)
(Written for United Press)
NEW YORK, April 17.—(United Press.)—
Now's the time that Father
Is treated like a King,
The reason for this being
The time is coming Spring!

He's buying Esther's Easter gown,
A Fan for sister Fanny,
A Bertha for young Bertha Ann,
Georgette for Georgianna.
He pays a Bet for Betty Jane,
Agrees to fit Nancy Nancy;
For little Hattie buys a Hat,
A Vest for Vesta Pansy.
He's loosened up for sister Lou,
He's given Grace an I.O.U.,
But the dose that was the bitter pill
Was paying Barbara's Barber bill!

"And Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these!"

How many fathers have felt that way when they regarded their offspring on Easter Sabbath? How many hearts have been proud and happy on Easter day, regardless of flattened pocket books?

When I see the happiness in the eyes of the little tenement children on Easter Sabbath, the thrill of their fresh, pink hair ribbons, their new Spring shoes and their trimmed-over hats, I feel sure that the money spent on the renewal of the Spring wardrobe is money well spent. Often the families of moderate means are large and Easter bedecking means a sacrifice on the part of the parents, but it occurs to me that the sacrifice is well worth while.

Buy Lasting Goods!
Buying Easter garments which will be of use throughout the Spring and Summer season is a sensible conclusion. Over-dressy effects which were popular some years back are no longer the Easter vogue. The little Miss of today prefers a simple tailored suit, with a pretty blouse and street hat, to a fussy, frilled gown and a lace hat for Easter. She selects something which will be suitable for seven days of the week—something of which she will not tire.

The logical thing for the slender
Miss is the tailored suit of boyish lines, varieties of which may be seen in the department stores and shops.
There are many types of girls, however, who should not attempt the tailleur. To begin with, the overplump person looks anything but rakish in a mannish tailored suit. A pink-and-white, forget-me-not type girl is likewise lost completely in the swagger of the tailor. Those who are inclined to assume the mannerisms of a man are decidedly unattractive when wearing mannish collars, swagger-sticks and derby-typed hats. Women who cannot appear well-groomed in a tailored suit appear shabby in garments whose chief charms lie in their correctness of detail. Earrings, pearl necklaces, georgette blouses and such miss the entire idea of the tal-lored vogue.

For Large Women.
For those of mature proportions,
the long coat or wrap and one-piece dress offers both style and utility.
Large women often wear dressy types of garments better than they do tal-lored types, and the long coat is certainly more dressy than the suit, since an assortment of frocks may be worn beneath it.

Fur trims for most of the Spring coats and wraps extend about the collar and down the front, close to the hem in many instances. Coats such as these will be of use in the Fall months.

Short fur coats will undoubtedly be worn by many of the smart women on Easter, but unless one can afford to purchase a cloth garment later it is foolish to have one of these, as the warm months are upon us before we realize it.

Fur neckpieces, on the other hand, will be worn all during the Summer months, as they have been in previous seasons. Small skins, such as mink, squirrel and ermine chokers, are perferred types this year. Small foxes are still used, although large skins as a rule are not as popular as small ones. A large person, of course, can wear a large furpiece better than she can a small one, so she must disregard the vogue to some extent.

Women Responsible For Good As Well As The Bad Men

HOUSTON, Texas, April 18.—"The story of Adam and Eve is correct.
Most every boy who gets into trouble has been led astray by some girl."

This was the statement of Mrs. Eva Belcher, Houston policewoman who handles all the juvenile cases here.

"Once that pair of brown eyes get fixed on his, and the acquisitive instinct all women possess starts to manifest itself, the poor fellow might just as well sign away the liberty of his own action. He is not longer to be held responsible to anybody, not even to himself."

"The rule works the way around," continued the policewoman, "When a boy is good, do not give him any credit. There is a girl at the bottom of it all. She deserves the credit."
"Keep the girls right, and the boys will be perfect gentlemen," she concluded.

VALUABLE ADDITION TO THE LIBRARY

What the general reader of the Bible most wants to know is covered by many pages of helps—these might be called an appendix—which are with in the covers—limp bound, by the way—of the new Big Print Red Letter Edition of the Bible now being distributed to readers of this paper. This volume and appendix are as essential in a library as an encyclopedia. On the average book shelf, where the number of books do not warrant the term library, such a Bible is even more necessary. The smaller the collection, the more important it is to have it comprise the best and most concise of reference works.

This is the best edition that has ever been offered to the public for much more than the present nominal cost and the three coupons. The red letter feature of Christ's words alone mark a special desirability. Then there are the comprehensive annotations and the halftones which add immeasurably to its value. Even with other Bibles in the home, this particular edition should be there also for its convenience and for the excellence of its additional information other than the regular text. The coupon offer is explained in another part of this issue.

GONE TO REST.

Mrs. Annie Ragland Cline, age twenty, was called to rest April 6. She leaves husband, mother, father, sisters and brothers, besides a number of relatives and a host of friends.

She was very industrious and possessed a winning personality. God gave her a beautiful face and smile with which she won friends everywhere. I have often called her Sunshine because it could be seen that she, with her sweet temper was the sunshine of her home. And oh, how we miss her.

Although we can't understand now, God had other plans for her, rather than staying here.

Her playmates at school and chums elsewhere learned to love her very much, and are deeply grieved at having to give her up.

It's getting to be a byword like "Safety First," or other common phrases but "Remember the 23rd" still means a lot to baseball fans in Mexia and for miles around. Only five more days before the Oilers and the Gushers clash upon the local diamond and before Mexia gets away to a flying start toward the pennant which the home club earned last year but failed to capture.

With six Mayors to be the guests of the Gushers on the eventful day it is hinted that something besides baseball may be added to the attractions at Gusher Park next Wednesday.

Mexia has as good a chance as any city in the Texas Association to win the silver loving cup which President Johnson of the league offers to the city having the largest attendance at the opening game of the season. The contest is to be determined according to the population of the city, that is on a percentage basis. How about bringing that cup to Mexia? It can be done.

Mexia business section will be practically closed up next Wednesday when the Gushers meet the Corsicana Oilers at Gusher park. The cafes have not been asked to close as it is almost imperative that such places of business be open for the convenience of the public. Who said Mexia doesn't back its club?

Three more players were released by the Gushers Wednesday. McCaw, Hensley, and Phipps were given the releases just before the club started on its exhibition trip to Tyler to face the Trojans in three tilts.

Mayor Cockran, of Teague Mayor Brown, of Groesbeck, Mayor Gamel, of Coolidge, Mayor Reese, of Tehuacana and Mayor Watson, of Mexia will be the guests of the Mexia Baseball club on the Big Day, when the Gushers and the Oilers start the race for the Texas Association pennant next Wednesday at Gusher park.

Marlin opens with the Indians at Marlin on the twenty fifth.

The Mt. Pleasant Cats of the East Texas League defeated the Corsicana Oilers of the Texas Association Tuesday afternoon in the exhibition game which was played in Mt. Pleasant by a score of 6-0. The two teams play the second game of the two game series in Mt. Pleasant this afternoon. From Mt. Pleasant the Oilers go to Marshall for three games with the Marshall Indians and then home against the Tyler Trojans.

Gressett, pitcher who has been with the Dallas Steers of the Texas League this spring, was returned to the Marlin Bathers of the Texas Association Tuesday and he will bolster up and add strength to the batter pitching corps.

The Marlin Bathers of the Texas Association defeated the Tyler Trojans of the East Texas League in Marlin Tuesday 6-1.

Geology & Streams

By R. R. EDSON, Geologist

The coastal plain of Texas represents a topographical table land as nearly featureless perhaps in its broad expanse as any part of North America. This topographical plain is however cut and scarred by the winding threads of many streams and rivers as they continue their burden of carrying off circulating meteoric waters. The total area extending far back into the mid-continent was at one time the bottom of the Great Cretaceous Sea. Many periods of rest with gradual upbuilding of shore lines alternating with periods of disturbance and wearing away occurred before it reached its present stage of development.

This state of upbuilding and wearing away goes on continually in accordance with the law circulating matter. After coming to rest in more or less its present state of development streams and rivers began their work of wearing away and carrying off their burden of gravel and silt to be deposited at the meeting of tide-water and continue the process of extending the shore line further out to sea.

All the agencies of nature follow the one tendency that of tearing down the high places and leveling up the low places. The wind and the rain carry and wash the dust and fine particles from the higher to the lower levels. The action of the air and the frost disintegrate and crumble the material even the hardest rocks which are reduced to still finer substance and furnish matter to load the constantly circulating streams and rivers on their course to the sea level.

Were there no opposing force during all the ages of time in the earths history the higher places would all be worn away and the earth leveled up and be entirely covered with water. However there is such opposing force or forces. There is a dynamic force which often gives vent to itself in the form of giant volcanoes and pours forth almost unbelievable masses of igneous or aqueous material from the bowels of the earth. This material is called lava or volcanic ash as the case may be. Some of the greatest mountains known are built up largely of one or the other of these materials and they constitute part of the earths formation almost everywhere. The amount of material emitted from one of these giant volcanoes is truly immense. As an instance when Mt. Katmia volcano Alaska erupted some years ago the National Geographic Society sent an expedition of trained volcanists to make an investigation. They reported that the amount of material expelled through the throat of Mt. Katmia crater would cover the surface of the entire New England states to a depth of four feet. The material emitted in this case was volcanic ash water and gas and the investigators were obliged to go about in rafts and boats to cover part of the area. There is another and perhaps greater opposing force. This is the gradual and sometimes likely imperceptible folding and crumpling of the earths surface and this force is no doubt responsible for most of the unevenness of the surface of the earth. It is this gradual and low folding that is the cause of most of the structural forms containing oil and gas sometimes in enormous quantities. Warping and folding attended by giant thrust movements cause the elevation of the earths surface into great mountain ranges. On the flanks and sides of these mountain ranges can be seen the sedimentary bedded formations in their successive layers from the earliest to the latest. All large rivers and many of the smaller streams have their source or utmost inception on the lofty peaks of mountain ranges. Meteoric waters in the form of rain and snow fall on the high peaks of the mountains where it in turn begins its natural travel to the sea. Hence it is obvious that all large streams heading in the mountains must cut across all the successive layers of formations as they carve their stream beds on their flow to the sea.

The winding course of all streams and rivers has given rise to the study of streamology as a possible field of its own. This in turn suggests the idea of what effect different geological horizons with their varied structural forms may have in influencing or determining the meander lines seen in all streams. If as seen above all large streams must run across the different layers of formation on their course to the sea, then it follows that the lesser and smaller streams and rivulets gathering lines on the flanks of major streams must flow more or less with the upturned edges of the different strata of formation. Many well known structural forms rich in production of oil and gas are outlined in relief by the course of rivers and smaller streams.

To such a degree is this evident in salt dome structures that even an untrained observer thoroughly familiar with the topography of one typical salt dome may be able to predict the presence of another by the singular and characteristic features of drainage system common to all of them. The Butler salt dome area stands in a considerable bend of the Trinity river. Such bend of river may have been and probably was influenced by the structural formative conditions shown at this point. Butler salt dome proper has the usual characteristic markings of salt domes. The occurrence of several of these salt domes on a line centering through Butler district in manner observed suggests an orderly system of arrangement. Such an orderly system of geologic structural arrangement could duly be along a line of general weakness and deformity and no doubt holds good in this case. The line of strike of this series of salt domes about north twenty-five degrees east is almost parallel to line of strike of contact line between the upper cretaceous and lower eocene division of formations as shown by geological charts.

The geographical position of this structural formation is such that it is cut across by many large streams. At point of crossing of Trinity river occurs many odd and interesting places which may be or may not be of importance to a geological study. South a little west of Butler dome on same line of trend are several structural forms some of which are set out in relief by the course of surrounding small streams. Except in one instance "Edwards well" on drilling for oil and gas has ever been done. In this well a fair showing of gas was reported at 2610 feet. Some three or four tests are promised for the near future, among them the L. A. Smith location on Edwards ranch has machinery in place and ready to start on a site favorably marked by the course of streams outlining the structure in relief. That satisfactory and profitable able results will follow the development of this district may be safely predicted.

THE PLOT THICKENS

Springtime Annie Again.

Yes, A. B. R., I will excuse Your flirtation with the muse In Thursday's columns of the News. In fact I like your charming verse, Your witticisms sly and terse And all the jokes you intersperse. But you can never once induce My fertile brain to put to use Such foolish rhymes as you produce!

Fair Annie I shall not offend By rhyming her when I extend, With words like those you recommend.

O, the Shades of sad Pandora! I'll not use the word "angora" In reference to my fair Senora! You say that I should rhyme with "Annie"

A word like "goat" instead of "nannie"—

And thus offend my springtime Annie!

O, you lawyer, smooth and sly! You want her love for me to die. So that she will pass me by. You want that girl, so fair and sweet,

To give YOU kisses when you meet And make YOUR lap her loving seat—

And then you'll gloat at my defeat! But, Judge, I'll never fall for that, For on my knees she often sat And her fair cheeks I love to pat.

So you, Judge, may as well be calm, Your disappointed heart embalm And croon love's final funeral psalm.

You shall not hold her tender palm! Electric strength, ecstatic bliss, She's found I have in e'ry kiss.— Your onions, now she will not miss; Your words, she says, she will not trust.—

Her tender heart you tried to bust And now she's left you in disgust And calls Me her sweet weiner wust!

So all my sweet poetic cries You, dear Judge, may criticize Any time you think it wise.— But Annie is MY special prize—I'm the apple of her eyes— She's MY and I'm her flies. I'll not follow your suggestion— It would give love bad congestion, Though your brilliance none can question.

PAVEMENT AND BICYCLES GO TOGETHER FINE

The Sunday edition of the Mexia Daily News will carry some very important news for every boy and girl in Mexia or for 25 miles around Mexia. In that edition there will be an announcement which has been looked forward to for some time since Mexia has added so many miles of smooth, paved surface to its streets and since the highways leading into the city have been placed in such good condition.

Many a boy and girl has wished for a bicycle. Now through the efforts of the circulation department of the Mexia Daily News many of them will be able to realize this ambition. For a very little work on their part each boy or girl can become the owner of a bright shiny $55.00 bicycle. This is not a contest and the number of bicycles to be given away is not limited to any number. Each boy and girl has the opportunity of earning a bicycle.

Be sure and read the big announcement in the Sunday's News.

Salts Fine For Aching Kidneys

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps to neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. (Adv.)

That plaintiff at the instance and request of defendants on or about July 18, 1922 and covering a period through December, 1922, sold and delivered to them various goods, machinery and oil well supplies, amounting to the sum of $1818.09, in consideration of which defendants promised to pay plaintiff upon demand said amount, all of which is fully shown by an itemized statement of the dates goods and amounts charged therefor attached to plaintiff's petition; that said material was used by defendants in the development and improvement of an oil and gas lease; that on March 26, 1923, plaintiff fixed a materialman's lien as required by law covering all the lease, leasehold estate, oil and gas rights in and under the following land: Being a part of the land owned by W. D. Freeman, H. W. Freeman and H. C. Freeman and described in a deed record in Vol. 105, page 434, deed records of Limestone County, Texas. Beginning in the southeast line of said tract, north 52½ east, 437.7 vrs. from the southwest corner of the tract which is the southwest corner of a twenty acre tract heretofore leased to Joseph Danciger; Thence North 35½ west with Danciger's northeast line, 356.7 vrs.; Thence north 52½ east 158.2 vrs. to the southwest line of a 40 acre tract heretofore leased to R. L. Sprinkle; Thence south 35½ east with Sprinkle's Southwest line, 356.7 vrs. to the southeast line of Freeman's tract which is R. L. Sprinkle's southwest corner; Thence south 52½ west 158.2 vrs. to the place of beginning, containing 10 acres. That said lien was filed on said lease hold estate for oil and gas rights, said lease hold estate being known as the Wofford & Jackson lease, which was operated by Ben Wofford and M. M. Jackson under the firm name of Wofford & Jackson, as agents of these Defendants and the remaining joint owners. That said account is past due and unpaid and defendants have failed and refused to pay same or any part thereof except the sum of $500.00 to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $1319.09.

Wherefore plaintiff prays that defendants be cited to appear and answer herein, and that it have judgment foreclosing its Materialman's lien to satisfy said indebtedness of $1318.09, together with costs of suit and such other relief as it may be justly entitled.
